CONSUMER CONFIDENCE REPORTS SHOW EXCELLENT WATER QUALITY IN ALL SIX CALIFORNIA AMERICAN WATER DISTRICTS Water Utility Surpasses State and Federal Standards

CORONADO, CALIF., June 30, 2016 – California American Water has published all 2015 Consumer Confidence Reports, which show we serve high quality water throughout the company’s six districts.

The annual reports compare California American Water’s water quality with standards established by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the California Department of Public Health. The report also discusses drinking water sources, public health information, substances detected in the water and the levels of those substances. Commonly asked questions and answers concerning drinking water are also included.

With the upcoming high water usage months around the corner, assisting water conservation has been the top priority of California American Water during the drought. In addition to working with its customers to lower their water usage, California American Water continues to serve high quality water to its approximately 615,000 statewide customers.

“Despite the challenges of the drought, we continue to provide our customers with top quality drinking water; we are now adding our efforts to help customers save water during this drought,” said Rob MacLean, President of California American Water. “We are proud to report that we serve our customers with high quality water that meets all state and federal standards.”

California American Water’s Consumer Confidence Reports, which are available to customers now, are searchable by zip code and accessible online at www.californiaamwater.com.
